MENTAL HEALTH BARBER TRAINING, INTERVIEW AND PHOTO OP

UCare and Kente Circle bring America’s First Mental Health Barbershop Movement to South Minneapolis

Confess Project trainers empower barbers and hair stylists to be mental health advocates for Black men, boys and their families

WHAT: Confess Project mental health training in principles of active listening, compassion, advocacy and peer support. Opening remarks from UCare CEO Hilary Marden-Resnik, Kente Project CEO Larry Tucker, Minneapolis City Council President Andrea Jenkins. Includes mental health community partners and resource tables, Global Barber Educator demonstration, swag bags, refreshments, networking and Barber Ambassadors ceremony. The first 100 barbers and stylists receive a $100 stipend. Sponsored by UCare and Kente Circle. Masks required.

WHY: A mental health storm is brewing in American – particularly in the Black/African American community. In response, leaders at UCare and Kente Circle seek to heal the pain and make it okay to discuss mental health issues with trusted barbers and stylists. The Confess Project – America’s First Mental Health Barbershop Movement – empowers frontline heroes and sheroes in our local communities to support their clients’ mental health and substance use disorder needs.

The barbershop or hair salon is often a safe place for clients to discuss their concerns and needs. Armed with the Confess Project training, barbers and stylists will be able to say: “I am more than a pair of clippers. I am improving my community through the barber chair one client at a time.”
